Protection

While many have experienced the frustration of sustaining the health of a fragile house plant, imagine the efforts to protect an entire floor of plants and merchandise at a retail plant store – especially when the merchandise is displayed in a beautiful, open, sun-filled environment.

That was the challenge for Jackson & Perkins, the Medford, Oregon outlet renowned for home and garden merchandise excellence since 1872. "Jackson & Perkins is the area's best plant store with hundreds of exotic plants and garden paraphernalia. It goes without saying that our plants have to be healthy and our store must look great all of the time," says Jay Hall, Manager. But the windows at this Jackson & Perkins retail location were preventing this from happening. First, too much ultraviolet rays, heat and glare were causing plants to burn and gardening accessories to fade; and second, reflections on the windows prevented customers from seeing all the beautiful merchandise that was on display in the store.

Jay Hall chose to have Vista Window Film Dayview V 45 installed. "The product chosen is perfect for us" said Hall. "The low mirror finish provides a clear and undistorted view from the outside while keeping our plants looking healthy and natural. Vista Window Film is so effective in eliminating the sun's harmful rays, I can spend more time than ever tending to our customers rather than caring for our plants."
